

Surprisingly great adulting moments

A new survey of 2,003 millennials found that...

67% enjoy the holiday memories they make as adults more than the ones they have from their childhoods

3 in 4

said they're more motivated to do cooking and cleaning around the holidays

7 in 10

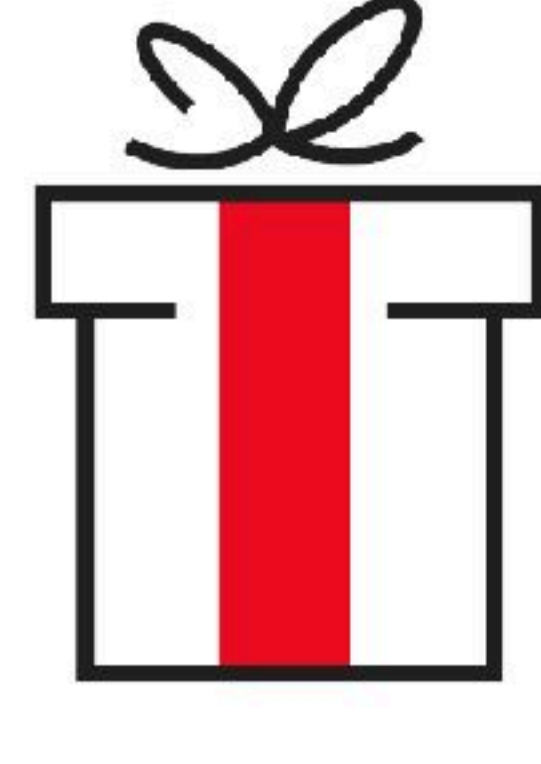

even claimed to enjoy the above activities

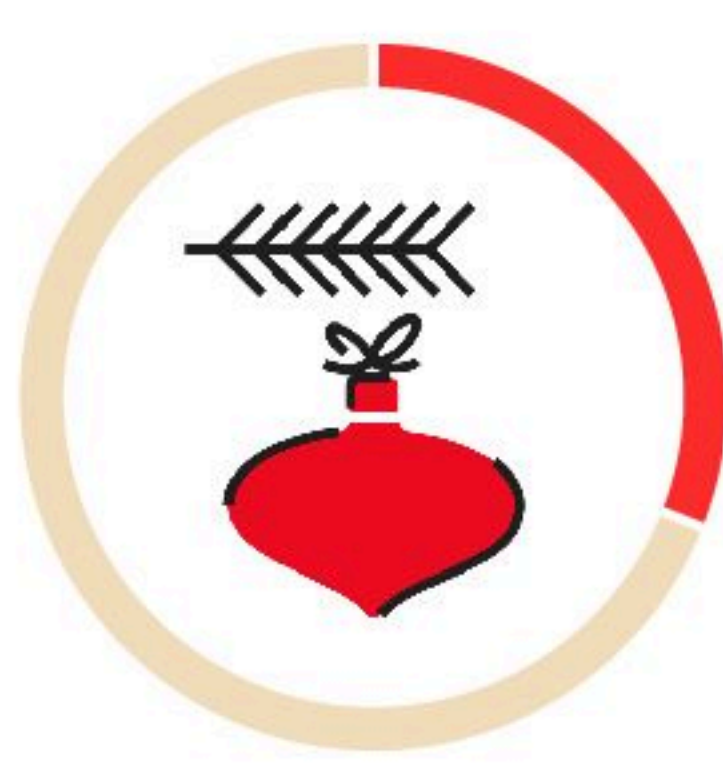

71% say they're more enthusiastic about wrapping holiday gifts as adults than when they were children

More than a quarter of adults say they like doing these holiday activities more as adults than as children:

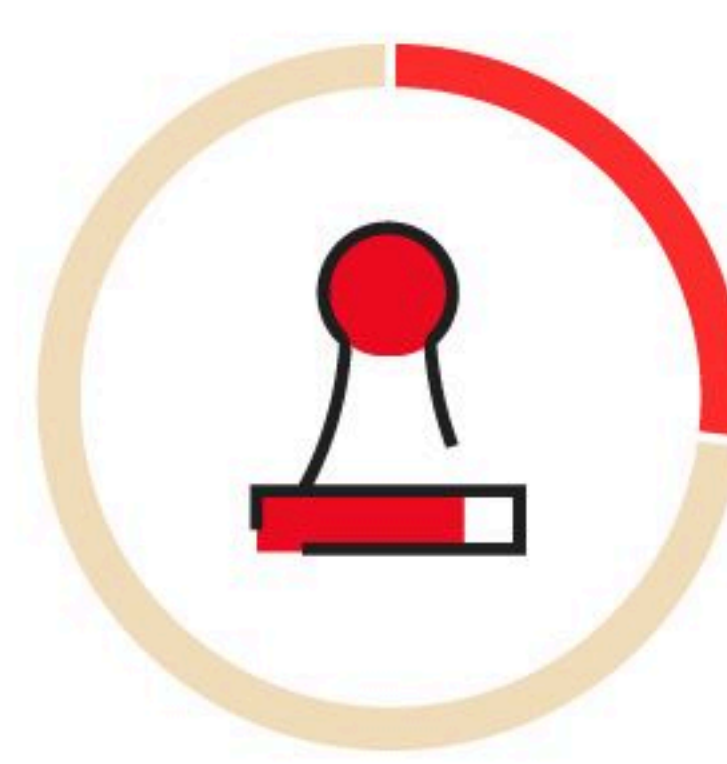

31%

Decorating the home

28%

Watching movies/
listening to holiday music

27%

Playing games

Beyond the holidays, there are a few activities adults find surprisingly great:

50% Learning new things

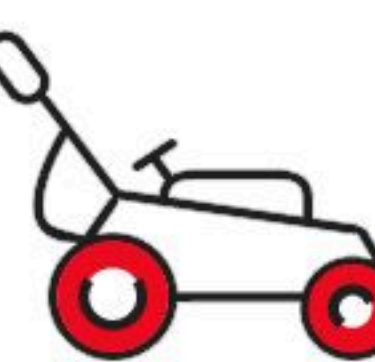

40% Staying in on a Friday night

39% Repairing things around the house

33% Paying bills

32% Mowing the lawn

6 in 10

also agree that purchasing big ticket items, like a house or car, is a fun experience

